NEVADA-SIERRA ABSENT AT GOLD AREA MEETING

Nevada and Sierra county representatives were conspicuous by their absence at a meeting of promotion minded citizens which met at Angels Camp last week and launched an organization to tell the world about the "Golden Chain of California" the historical mining district of the state, centered about highway 49.

Thirty representatives of chambers of commerce, boards of supervisors and highway associations from Placer, El Dorado, Amador, Calaveras, Tuolumne, Mariposa and San Joaquin counties unanimously endorsed a motion to create the "Golden Chain Council of the Mother Lode" to unify and coordinate advertising and promition campaigns.

San Joaquin county was represented on the basis of Stockton being a logical point of entry into the southern reaches of the 49er highway. Their representatives indicated the city would cooperate with any promotion to stimulate tourist trade to the district.

The council is to be formed of 18 members, three from each of the six highway 49 counties. The council members will include one supervisor, the head of the chamber of commerce, and a member of each chamber's travel and recreation committee.

Named as temporary chairman of the advisory unit was Fred Witta, Jr., Jackson, secretary-manager of the Amador county chamber of commerce.

Next meeting of the council has been set for Friday, Jan. 19, in Jackson.

While organization of the unit has just been completed, its efforts already have produced results, Witta pointed out. Already being distributed are 30,000 Golden Chain advertising pamphlets printed through financial cooperation of all six counties.

Next on the program is printing of thousands of cocktail napkins bearing the "Golden Chain" map and other details advertising this section. Means of financing the project without cost to the participating chambers were discussed at the Angels Camp session.

Witta displayed several types of advertising literature tieing in with the "Golden Chain" theme of this area.

Purpose of the general program will be the drawing of tourists to the "Golden Chain" section, with resultant benefit to all individual areas, he pointed out.

"Tourist trade is the most lucrative trade we have," declared Witta, "and we're just getting to replace our mining with it."

"Recreation today in California is a billion dollar industry," the temporary chairman added, "half the value of the state's agricultural industry. It is our destiny to go out and bring these tourists and vacationists into the Mother Lode to show them what we have in recreation and scenic possibilities."

LOG WORK STOPPAGE BOOSTS JOBLESS LOAD

Winter retrenchment in all employment in Nevada county was added to by the stoppage of work in the logging camps and saw mills by the heavy rains of two weeks ago, according to Paul Paye, department of employment manager in Grass Valley.

At week's end there were 425 claims on file in Paye's office, compared to 436 for the same date in 1949.

Sawmill work during the winter appears very pessimistic. The sawmills have very few logs on hand for winter cutting. Lack of truckers and labor last summer prevented the mills from building a supply of logs at the mills.

YULE TREE PRICES CONTINUE HIGH

Christmas tree prices will in all probability remain as high as last year, 75 cents to $1 per foot, according to DeWitt Nelson, state forester.

Only 500,000 of the some two and a half million yule trees that Californians are expected to use will come from the forest lands of the state, Nelson said.

A major part of the crop will be imported from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Minnesota and British Columbia.

CAMP BEALE HOT AS AIR FORCE ACADEMY SITE

Approximately $1,000 of the $1,500 goal for the twin cities of Nevada City and Grass Valley were raised in an incompletely reported one-day campaign here to raise funds for the promotion of the Camp Beale reservation as a site for a proposed U. S. Air Force Academy.

Mrs. Mary Johns, secretary of the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce, which is coordinating the Nevada county campaign for funds, reported $300 had been raised in Nevada City and about $700 in Grass Valley.

An Air Force inspection group will tour Camp Beale on Tuesday, Dec. 12, as a part of the inspection of 29 possible sites for the air school.

Approximately a hundred civic leaders of Nevada City and Grass Valley heard Warren Shingle and Ralph Robinson, Marysville businessmen and chamber of commerce leaders, expound the possibilities of Camp Beale as a site for the U. E. Air Force Academy at a Wednesday noon luncheon at Bret Harte Inn in Grass Valley.

Shingle optimistically presented the picture of the possibility of Camp Beale being chosen and pessimistically warned the assembly not to be too confident.

Shingle pointed out that while the principal objective of the area is conversion of Camp Beale to an academy, the possibility of Camp Beale being reactivated as an army post is very possible in view of the Korean war crisis.

Shingle added "Camp Beale is still in the running, and is one of 29 proposed sites from an original entry field of 354."

Robinson related costs of conducting the promotion campaign and made a frank appeal for additional funds to continue the program. Shingle reported about $5,600 had been spent on the campaign and between three and five thousand dollars more may be necessary.

Shingle said other California sites are Napa, Santa Rosa, Sacramento, and March Field.

Roy Tremoureux, president of the Grass Valley chamber of commerce, who presided, named Mayor Thomas H. Taylor, Arthur Innis, of Nevada City, and Dave Maltman and J. E. Keegan of Grass Valley as chairmen of a financing committee to raise additional funds for the campaign. A one-day campaign for funds was conducted yesterday in both communities.

MCCLOUD NOMINATED ODD FELLOWS CHIEF

Henry McCloud was nominated Noble Grand at Tuesday night's meeting of Oustomah Lodge No. 16, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Election will be held at next Tuesday's meeting.

Other officers nominated included James Rozynski, Vice Grand; Jonathan Pascoe, recording secretary; John Dart, financial secretary; W. A. Carlson and Joe Day, treasurer.

Ed Cotters will be the retiring Noble Grand.

CAROL SINGERS AT HISTORY UNIT MEETING

Carol singers will feature next Monday's meeting of the Nevada County Historical Society scheduled to be held at 8 o'clock at Wesley hall in Grass Valley, according to Mrs. Isabel Hefelfinger, president.

Included in the business program will be the annual reports and nomination of officers.

HIGHWAY 40 OPEN

State division of highways anopening of U. S. highway 40 on Wednesday. The road had been closed by a washout at Mystic in the northeast corner of Nevada county.

TAXES DELINQUENT AFTER TUESDAY

Taxes become delinquent in Nevada county if not paid by 5 p.m. Tuesday, warned Miss Elma Hecker, county tax collector, this morning.

"There are only three and a half more days in which to pay county taxes without becoming delinquent," the popular tax collector warned.

Miss Hecker also said several Nevada county property owners face delinquency of the first installment of their taxes because of inadequate addresses in the tax collector's office. A number of the bills are for residents of the Grass Valley and Colfax highway areas who have not reported address changes since rural mail route changes early this year.

Miss Hecker also pointed out that purchasers of property since assessment time last March should check with her office and make sure taxes are paid before the Tuesday delinquency date.

INTERIOR DEPT. PROPOSES MINE LAW CHANGES

Amendment of mining laws applicable to public domain is proposed by the Department of the Interior which would triple the annual mining claim assessment work to $300, and impose strict regulations in surfaces of mining claims is included in a three-page report of the Bureau of Land Management, a unit of the Department of the Interior.

The proposed changes are included in a document circulated to regional administrators, division chiefs and field offices and is marked "Confidential—Neither this memorandum nor the information it contains is to be made available to the public."

The Taylor grazing act places the jurisdiction of the act under the Bureau of Land Management and a prospector on public domain grazing land could be classified as a trespasser.

George W. Hallock, Grass Valley, president of the California Hydraulic Mining Association, said that if the Department of the Interior gets approval of the proposed law, the mining industry as it is known today would be doomed.

CAMPTONVILLE SCHOOL DEDICATION SUNDAY

Dedication of the Camptonville school will take place Sunday at 1 p.m., according to announcement by Mrs. Eric Nelson, president of Marysville parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West. Residents of the Camptonville area will participate in the program.

Committee in charge of the program includes Mrs. Agnes Weber Meade, Mrs. Clarence McCrank, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Hazel Redwine, Mrs. Marion Heisch, Mrs. William Eden and Mrs. Tim T. McKinsey.

NEW TELEPHONE BOOKS BEING DELIVERED

Delivery of new telephone directories covering Nevada, Butte, Sutter, Yuba and Sierra counties is underway, according to Eugene Ingalls, manager of Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. in Nevada City and Grass Valley.

Ingalls reported 3,100 copies of the directories are being distributed in the twin cities area.

Approximately 32,000 are being distributed in the five counties.

The directory formerly included Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Sacramento and Yolo counties, but the listings for these counties are now included in a separate book.

RESTORATION PROGRAM OF TRINITY CHURCH IS PLANNED BY CLUB

Restoration of the Trinity Episcopal church to its original appearance in the 1870's has been launched by the Men's Club of the church, according to H. J. Ray, president of the group.

The church was organized here in 1854 and the present building constructed 20 years later. Although additions have been made the long range restoration program will preserve it as a historical landmark of the early-day mining era.

Construction of new doors of heavy redwood and stained deep mahogany has started. George Mathis, the artistic world's gift to Nevada City, has designed the doors to conform to the architecture of the building.

Door frame and mouldings are being remade and reinforced and original woodwork designs over the doorway will be cleaned and painted and replaced.

Ray said other phases of the restoration includes installation of original gas fixtures and wiring for modern electricity, reroofing the church, installation of a fire prevention system, installation of rubber tiling in the vestibule, recarpeting the nave and sanctuary and rewiring the entire building.

As a part of the rewiring and relighting program the present lighting system will be replaced with ecclesiastical fixtures.

Tom Reynolds and Carl Noren have been appointed by Ray to supervise the restoration project.

Specially designed strap hinges will support the new doors.

Rev. Max Christensen is rector of the church.

FREE CUTTING OF YULE TREES RESTRICTED

Free cutting of Christmas trees for individual use will again be restricted in the Tahoe national forest according to an announcement yesterday by Guerdon Ellis, supervisor of the forest.

Past free cutting of Christmas trees by individuals from nearby towns, valley and bay area cities has completely exhausted the supply of readily available public land trees. While it appears many trees are available along regular routes of travel, in most instances these trees are either protected by state law as a part of the scenic roadside, or are trees growing on private land which are not obtainable by the general public.

Trees which supply the commercial market now come from the more inaccessible portions of the forest, Ellis said. Many operators sled their trees or mule-pack them for miles to reach outlet roads.

It is regretted this action is necessary, stated Ellis, for we fully appreciate the desire of individuals to cut their own tree. However, the demand is so heavy that free use of trees must be denied to residents of Nevada City, Grass Valley, Auburn, Reno and the Sacramento valley and bay area.

Bonafide settlers in isolated areas inside the forest will not be affected by these restrictions, Ellis concluded.

SCHOOL UNIFICATION MEETING ON JAN. 17

A public meeting to discuss the unionization of Nevada City and Grass Valley high schools will be held Wednesday, Jan. 17, in the auditorium of the Nevada City elementary school, according to announcement this morning by John L. Larue, local member of the county wide school redistricting committee, which will conduct the January meeting.

John Oakie, Clear Creek, will preside as chairman of the meeting, which is to start at 8 o'clock.

MILK HEARING

Hearings are scheduled Tuesday, Dec. 19, by the state department of agriculture on petition of milk producers.

TAHOE FOREST HAS EASY YEAR IN FIRE FIGHTING

Tahoe national forest escaped the 1950 fire season without a single devastating blaze, according to Fire Control Officer Keith Macdonald.

Largest fire of the Tahoe season started after the first rainfall early in October and burned 120 acres in the Hampshire Rocks district before it was brought under control.

Macdonald reported only about 33 percent of the expected acreage was burned. A total of 127 fires, man-made and natural, burned 445 acres for an average of 3.5 acres per fire.

A contributed factor to the low acreage figure was attributed by Macdonald to cooperation received from lumber companies and other agencies in the forest in lending manpower and equipment in controlling fires and the cooperation of other forest users in promptly reporting fires.

Forest service headquarters in Washington, D. C., call for maximum number of man-made fires at 40 for Tahoe national forest, and it was exceeded by 50 percent.

Lightning fires accounted for 67 blazes.

Macdonald explained that the maximum allowable figures are arrived at after a study of past fire occurrences on various national forests of the U. S.

A breakdown of the fires shows that 102 fires burned less than a quarter acre of ground, 19 of the fires were between a quarter acre and 10 acres, five burned between 10 and 100 acres, and one burned over 100 acres.

The forest service sets one-tenth of one percent of the forest acreage as a desirable maximum burn. Guerdon Ellis, Tahoe supervisor, said the ten year average since 1941 is below the maximum, despite serious fires last year and in 1947.

Records of the past five years:

Year	Acreage	Lightning	Man-made
1950	445	67	60
1949	2,378	100	82
1948	326	2	58
1947	6,270	17	67
1946	374	23	77

VFW AND AUXILIARY MEETS JOINTLY TONIGHT

Banner Mountain Post No. 2655 of Veterans of Foreign Wars and the VFW Auxiliary will meet in joint session tonight at Cardinal hall in the first of what will be regular joint sessions. Leroy Hoskin is chairman of refreshments for tonight's meeting.

The change was voted at the last meeting of the VFW, which formerly met on the first and third Mondays of the month and now will meet on the Auxiliary nights—first and third Fridays.

Gordon Tryon, adjutant of the local unit, announced the post's second hospital bed will arrive within a couple weeks.

John Blackburn was appointed sergeant major, publicity chairman and delegate the VFW county council.

TRUCKEE MAN FINED FOR CUTTING TREES

Pat Harrison, Truckee, was fined $150 in Tahoe City justice court on a charge of illegal cutting of Christmas trees in the Soda Springs area of the Tahoe national forest. He was arrested Nov. 8 by Acting Ranger Anton Rogina.

Justice of the Peace W. E. Vernon suspended $100 of the fine on condition that Harrison deliver the trees to the Big Bend ranger station where they will be sold at auction.

SUPERVISORS MEET

Nevada county board of supervisors will meet today in regular session in the supervisors chambers at the courthouse. Routine affairs are on the agenda.

COUNTY ROAD WORK MAY TRY PLANNED BASIS

Possibility of a long range program of road building for Nevada county was evinced at an informal discussion of road building problems by the board of supervisors, Joe F. O'Connor, county road commissioner; and Ted Jain, Marysville, federal aid secondary project engineer of the California highway department Saturday afternoon at the courthouse.

Henry G. Loehr, Truckee, the board chairman, said it is the hope of the supervisors to eventually place the county road program on a two to five year planning basis. "We have always dissipated our funds in maintenance work and as a result have been unable to finance road construction," the chairman said.

Jain met with the board to discuss the use of $40,000 of federal aid secondary funds available to the county if used before July 1, 1951. The money has to be matched with county funds of which there are none available for road construction at the present time.

Jain said that if the $40,000 was made available to the state the gambling odds were good the money could be used on a state project in Nevada county.

In an effort to save the federal funds for use by Nevada county the supervisors informally recommended the utilization of chapter 20 money of which the county has available $37,000, and build a bridge across the South Yuba at Washington just upstream from the present bridge.

O'Connor estimated the bridge would cost about $90,000.

If the project cannot be put into execution in time to utilize the federal money, the board informally approved a $120,000 realignment and grading of 9.16 miles of the Tyler road from the junction at highway 49 to North Columbia for construction in 1951 and 1952. The two year project would use two years of federal aid secondary funds, the county matching funds to be raised by a 15 cents roads and 15 cents bridges tax.

Tyler project if adopted would call for two miles of realignment from a point 3½ miles east of highway 49 and additional base and surfacing of the 9.16 miles.

The board also considered the Edwards Crossing bridge and approaching grades and the road in the vicinity of the Bridgeport bridge. The magnitude of the construction projects decided the board to defer the projects in favor of the Tyler road.

Jain pointed out to the board members that they could combine funds with Sierra county and authorize a joint project. Sierra county also has $40,000 in federal funds available but no matching county funds.

At a formal session in the morning Gun N. Robinson, newly elected supervisor of the fourth district, took his seat for the first time. The board also canvassed the ballots of the Nov. 7 general election.

NOVEMBER WINDS UP AS SECOND WETTEST

Fred Bush, weather reporter, said approximately two inches of precipitation was spilled from the weather gauge by tampering boys and with the quarter inch of rain that fell Wednesday, the month ended as the second wettest November in the century of recorded weather in Nevada City with a total fall of 17.93 inches.

Season rainfall to date is 25.13 inches compared to 5.56 at the same time in 1949.

Previous record November was 21.55 inches recorded in 1884.

A STEP ON THE WAY

Henry G. Loehr, Truckee supervisor of the Nevada county board, Saturday led the administrators in an informal discussion of the county's sad road situation. The board is endeavoring to develop a road construction program predicated on the planned construction program that will be blueprinted two to five years ahead of actual construction.

As Loehr pointed out Nevada county's road work has been a matter of patchwork with all road money being dissipated in maintenance and labor costs to keep the chuckholes filled with gravel that only washes out with the next rainstorm.

All four of the supervisors who were present grappled with the problem in a manner that indicates that for the first time in our history roadwork will be built with an eye to the future instead of the old time political pork barrel of keeping relatives on the public payroll and a weather eye out for the stray vote that may be picked up by a judiciously located and politicially timed bit of roadwork.

Since Loehr assumed the chairmanship of the board we have noticed a more businesslike attitude during the sessions of our supervisors and a quick completion of the administrative tasks, with less time consumed in dawdling and doodling.

PILE OF SCRATCH

Dime store heiress Barbara Hutton has so much money that, as "Bugs" Baer once said, she could buy perfume at $1,000 an ounce and use it in a flit gun. Title-chasing Barbara has not come to the conclusion that this pile of scratch is what has spoiled her series of marriages, chiefly to titled Europeans.

She is planning to come home where "good, decent qualities still count." Miss Hutton should be warned that a man doesn't have to have a title to be conscious of the mountain of iron men alongside Barbara. We do have a solution to this dilemma. Barbara can give us the money—shift the onerous burden to our broad shoulders—then perhaps while trying to earn a living among the proletariat, she may find Prince Charming.

As for us, no sacrifice of having our personality merged in a background of wealth is too much if it will insure happiness for Miss Hutton. Heretofore, we have been judged solely on the basis of our charming personality for some years—and we're getting tired of it.

Once upon a time there was a boy penguin and a girl penguin who met at the Equator. After a charming interlude the boy penguin went to the North Pole and the girl penguin went to the South Pole. Later on, a telegram arrived at the North Pole stating simply: "Come quick. I am with Byrd."

MR. TRUMAN IGNORES CONSEQUENCES

On his way to his grand-standing meeting with General MacArthur on Wake Island, President Truman got in a little dig against us Isolationists. He said:

"There are still some people who do not realize that this is an international nation—not an isolated republic."

Now, as far as it goes, that is true. The U. S. has become internationalized as Shanghai once was. The whole world claims a share of our earnings—of our lifeblood. But is that good? We have become permanently involved in foreign entanglements—which George Washington had warned us against.

Truman implied that this was inevitable, but this is not true. We have become internationalized solely because politicians in power thought this would be to their advantage. They yearned to become world Big Shots. We pay the bills.

Let's take a look at the consequences of internalizing us.

Take taxes. How do you like them? If you think they're heavy now, just wait. France has just asked us to pay for her new army. The British never quit asking. Indo-China wants American war supplies. All the Atlantic Pact nations want American men to fight their battles, and American taxes to pay their bills.

This is Internationalism sure enough! But is it good?

The brass hats are at their usual game of playing one American group off against anither. General Hershey now says if he can draft 18-year-old boys into the army, he won't ask for drafting of veterans. But why does he have to draft either? Because that is the price of Internationalism!

The general figures that the veterans will immediately put up a howl to get the 18-year-olds shipped off to war. In the war to save Stalin from Hitler, the parents of young boys made few protests. Few wrote leters to congressmen. Practically none really made a fuss about it. So the general wants the new crop of boys. Well, this is the price of Internationalism.

General Hershey made a most remarkable statement. He said every young man should serve 30 months in uniform, to support Dean Acheson in his self-appointed role of Architect of the World. Said the General, "These young men must pay their debt to society!"

Believe it or not, that is what the general said! To be drafted is now the debt which every American "owes to society" Familiar ring to that expression? Yes, you've heard it before. We used to say of convicted criminals that sitting in the electric chair or serving time in prison was "paying their debt to society."

That was an unfortunate way of putting it. What the general should have said is that young Americans, though guiltless of crime, were paying the international gambling debts of politicians.

Yes, these anxious, tax-loaded, harried, insecure times are the consequences of internationalist gambling by politicians who were playing for their own glory. They were not inevitable. Smaller and weaker nations than ours have kept out of wars and foreign entanglements. We name the best known: Sweden and Switzerland. Also every nation in the western hemisphere except the U. S. and Canada—From the Lemars, Iowa, Globe-Post.

The prospect of a $60 billion federal budget should arouse some sober thinking.—$60 billion is six times the largest pre-war federal peacetime budget. It is approximately equal to the total national income in any year through the 1930's.—Oak Harbor, Wash., News.

Total cost is $15.50, and delivery is guaranteed.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

I Have A "Close Squeak"!

Spent last Saturday morning wandering all over the house. Wherever I went—upstairs or down—I kept hearing a "squeak." Couldn't find out where it was coming from until noon-time when the missus came home from her weekly shopping.

"Listen," I says to her, "hear that squeak?" I started walking real quiet-like across the kitchen and there it went again! "Joe Marsh," she laughs, "that is nothing but your suspender clips rubbing back and forth when you walk!" And darned if it wasn't!

From where I sit, I'd been letting a little thing become a serious problem. Like some little difference of opinion or taste will start off a great big argument. I may prefer a temperate glass of beer with my dinner—while the missus likes tea—but we figure that no two people have exactly the same likes and dislikes. So, why get all "het up" about it?

The moral is, check your suspenders—and check your temper when it comes to little things.

RECLAMATION MEN CLAIM CENTRAL VALLEY PROJECT WOULD HAVE MINIMIZED FLOODS

California's tremendous flood damage would have been greatly minimized, and vast additional long range benefits of water conservation and hydroelectric power production realized, had the comprehensive plan for Central Valley basin development, now before congress, been in operation, according to R. S. Calland, acting regional director for the Bureau of Reclamation.

Surveys of available data by bureau engineers show that the series of multiple purpose dams now in operation and proposed under the Central Valley basin plan would have controlled the floods to virtually non-damaging amounts in the Central valley, Calland said.

Dams either in operation or proposed on six of the major rivers flowing into the basin would have stored and conserved for beneficial use more than 1,200,000 acre-feet of water. Power developments on these rivers would have produced 450,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy from water stored during the storm alone, the survey showed. Potential storage in the remaining proposed reservoirs of the basin was estimated at 800,000 acre feet.

The two major dams now completed in the basin, Shasta on the Sacramento and Friant on the San Joaquin, functioned 100 percent successfully during the storm, Calland said. They stored nearly 200,000 acre-feet of water, which if uncontrolled would have added materially to flood damage.

Estimated amounts of water which would have been stored were based on normal operational procedure, and amounts of water which would have been in the various reservoirs under average stream flow for this time of year.

No data was available immediately on the storm flow in the Tule, Kaweah and Kern rivers. Storage dams of 75,000, 100,000 and 550,000 acre-feet, respectively, are proposed on these rivers in the Central Valley basin plan, thus materially increasing the estimated amount of water which would have been stored, Calland declared.

Streams included in the survey are:

Yuba river—New Bullards Bar and Large Narrows dam, with combined capacity of 1,200,000 acre-feet, would have effectively controlled disastrous floods in the Linda and Olivehurst districts of Yuba county, and stored 300,000 acre-feet of water, for 174,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy.

Feather river — Oroville dam, with capacity of 2,500,000 acre-feet would have reduced peak flow of 87,000 cubic feet per second to a small fraction of that amount, and stored 400,000 acre-feet of water, enough to produce 170,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy

Sacramento river—Shasta dam (in operation) stored 60,000 acre-feet, enough to produce 28,000,000 kilowatt hours, and reduced the stream flow below the dam by 15,000 second feet.

American river — Folsom dam (now under construction) would have reduced record peak flow of over 200,000 second feet to a safe design flow of 115,000 second feet, and stored 300,000 acre-feet of water, enough for 52,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy.

Kings river — Pine Flat dam (now under construction) would have stopped and stored almost the entire flood flow of the Kings estimated at 120,000 second feet, and stored 200,000 acre-feet of water, enough for 24,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy.

San Joaquin river—Friant dam (in operation) stopped and stored the entire peak flow of 45,000 second feet at the height of the flood, reducing the river flow to 50 second feet and preventing any flood damage on the river, as well as storing 120,000 acre-feet of water.

Other rivers and streams included in the comprehensive plan would have followed this pattern had the proposed structures been built and in operation, Calland concluded.

4 California 4-H Winners Named

TOP ranking records in the 1950 national 4-H Frozen Foods, Farm and Home Electric, and Leadership awards programs have brought state honors to four Golden State club members. Brief outlines of their records follow:

Pat Stockton

James Fagerskog

W. Lamond Woods

Frances Wilson

There's no fuss or muss to serve a tasty meal on short notice in the Stockton family of Bakersfield, since daughter Pat, 21, has learned how to freeze all kinds of food. Proof that she did a first rate job is not only in the eating, but also in the fact that she won top state honors in the 4-H Frozen Foods program. The gold watch inscribed with her name was provided by International Harvester. A club member for nine years, Pat has completed 25 projects, specialising in frozen foods for four years. Long range planning, and careful concentration of freezer space has attributed greatly to her success. She has frozen 60 quarts of fruits and vegetables, and 700 pounds of meat in their home freezer. A charter member of her club, Pat has served as president and Junior Leader. She is finishing work for her degree at San Jose State College in summer sessions, and teaches school during the year.

Of practical and lasting value to James Fagerskog, 18, of Carmichael, is the down-to-earth knowledge gained in the 4-H Farm and Home Electric program, which also won for him highest state honors. His plans for utilizing electricity and electrical equipment on the home farm have resulted in more conveniences and leisure hours. Jim has repaired motors, radios, lamps and clocks, and built two electric pig brooders at home. He has also installed lights in his rabbitry and built an electric honey extractor. His project work paid off when he won a first place electrical award. Always interested in imparting knowledge, he has given several electrical demonstrations and was featured in an electric safety play three times. Jim served his club twice as junior leader and once as president. Westinghouse Educational Foundation provided him with a trip award to the Chicago Club Congress.

Outstanding leadership in club and community brought state honors to W. Lamond Woods, 19, of Sanger, and Frances Wilson, 20, of Porterville.

A 4-H'er for 10 years, Lamond's main projects have been dairy, swine and sheep which is now his means of livelihood. In a community where formerly there had been little youth work and no community service, his efforts have produced fine results. His club collected food, money and clothing for a family whose home burned down; raised two guide dogs for the blind; sent a needy child to summer camp, and bought shrubs and landscaped the community park. Club members have exhibited at county, state and grand National Fairs. Demonstration in feeding of animals, food and egg preservation were given; they also took part in showmanship contests. This year Lamond is leading a new phase of club work — a senior 4-H Club. He is now a sophomore at California State Polytechnic College.

Frances has been a club member 11 years. Last year she was Tulare County All-Star and was elected director of the 1950 Junior Leaders' Conference at Davis. She has been assistant camp director for two years and camp leader for six, directing recreation, swimming and crafts. She has helped in community projects such as improving the club room, conservation and safety campaigns. Also, she assisted with play-days for children. Frances is a junior at San Jose State College.

A handsome gold watch appropriately inscribed was presented to each by Edward Foss Wilson, president of Wilson and Co., Chicago.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

LUMBERMAN BLAMES GOLD DREDGERS FOR YUBA RIVER FLOOD

Responsibility for breaking of the Yuba river levee near Marysville last week and the resultant flooding of 100 square miles of land was charged to the Yuba Consolidated Gold Fields, Inc., by Arnold Speckert, lumberman of Linda.

Speckert made the charge in a petition addressed to the Yuba county board of supervisors. He charged the disaster was caused by damming of the north bank of the river by the mining company. Speckert claimed the dam reduced the river runoff by 50 percent and directed the stream flow against the levee which collapsed, creating the flooding and driving 10,000 persons from their homes.

The lumberman charged the dam was a public nuisance and asked the supervisors to have it removed.

Eugene L. Gray, Marysville attorney, announced he will file a $150,000 damage suit against the mining company on behalf of the lumberman.

The mining company conducts dredging operations in the Hammonton area.

MCDONALD SUIT IS SETTLED OUT OF COURT

Suit of Mrs. Anita L. McDonald, Grass Valley for $150,000 damages against several contractors was settled out of court last Friday, according to announcement by Crofford W. Bridges, attorney for Mrs. McDonald.

Perez, driver of a truck which crashed into a light truck in which James M. McDonald, husband of the plaintiff; Charles Faulkner and John Wearne were killed in August, 1949.

Bridges, in filing for dismissal of the suit Friday, declined to reveal terms of the settlement.

Suits are still pending in behalf of Mrs. Faulkner and the Wearne family.

$13,000 YULE CHECKS MAILED LOCALLY

Approximately $13,000 in yule checks are being mailed from the Nevada City branch of the Bank of America, to members of the bank's Christmas club, according to H. A. Curnow, manager of the Nevada City institution.

Curnow said the checks will be placed in the postoffice today.

Curnow commented that this money, so conveniently accumulated during the past year, should prove very welcome to the club members who will find themselves in a better position to meet year-end financial obligations or make essential Christmas season purchases.

He added that enrollments for the 1951 Christmas club are now being accepted.

Home Department Takes Lessons in Finger Art

Twenty-seven members of Nevada City Home Department enjoyed a busy Tuesday at a special meeting held in conjunction with the textile painting group at Seaman's lodge, Pioneer park.

Members brought their lunch, and coffee and tea were served.

Luncheon was followed by a demonstration by Mrs. Orpha Pond in making Christmas wrappings by means of finger painting. The materials were furnished to those who wished to learn this interesting hobby which is a great deal of fun for both young and old.

Glossy finished butcher paper was furnished. Holding the 16x22 inch sheet by two corners, draw slowly through water in a pan until it is it wet through. Lay it flat on a table, glossy side up. Dip a spoonful of the color you select in the center of the paper.

Now the fun begins.

Using finger tips, knuckles, or thumb, or the palm or heel of your hand, gently swosh the color into whatever patterns and ideas your imagination dictates. Make certain that all lumps in the paint dissolve into a smooth, free flowing mixture.

There are endless uses for this art, such as painting cake cartons, or gift boxes.

Formula for finger painting is four heaping tablespoons of corn starch placed in a saucepan. Stir in enough water to make a very smooth paste. Add one quart of water and cook until it boils. When it thickens to a jelly like consistency allow to cool and pour into a mason jar. Add poster paint until you have the color you desire. Repeat the process for other colors. Add a little alum to the mixture before cooking if the paint is to stand indefinitely to prevent it from becoming moldy on top.

Among those who attended the session were Mrs. Merrill Day, Mrs. Elizabeth Borham, Mrs. Helen Young, Mrs. Laura Page, Mrs. Helen Jones, Mrs. Isabel Tourtelotte, Mrs. Virginia Hilliard, Mrs. Gertrude Lantz, Mrs. Mertie Bettcher, Mrs. Leona Waechter, Mrs. Pond, Mrs. Annie Murchie, Mrs. Jean Hahn, Mrs. Harriet Farmer, Mrs. Belle Brock, Mrs. Marian Feagans, Mrs. Fanny Hawke, Mrs. Gladys Waechter, Mrs. Louise Roland, Mrs. Marie Bush, Mrs. Rose Patterson, Mrs. Pearl Litzinger, Mrs. Betty Kennedy and daughter, Mary Ann, Mrs. Haddy and Mrs. Beatrice Butcher.

The Christmas wrappings and boxes made by this group were left to dry and will be used for the gifts for the children at the Home Department's Christmas party.

How can you pass up prices like these?

As we've been saying for quite a spell — "Whatever your price range—Better buy Buick."

But maybe we'd better get down to brass tacks, as to just what this suggestion means.

In the lower-price field, this has been happening:

Four out of ten Buick SPECIALS—bought by people with a car to trade in—have been bought by folks who formerly drove one of the so-called "low-priced three." They found they could afford a Buick!

In the fine-car field, something even more impressive has happened:

Four out of five people who looked at a ROADMASTER and another very distinguished automobile decided in favor of ROADMASTER!

So — whatever your price range, take a look at our prices — and at what you get for your money.

What you get is the thrill of owning the greatest Buick of all time — as registered by record-breaking sales.

What you get is power and style and comfort and performance that are hard to match in any other automobile.

More specifically — you get the power-with-thrift of Buick's famous Fireball high-compression engine — a style that stands out in any company—a ride with the comfort of coil springs on every wheel — and performance that makes you feel like the head man on any highway.

Evangeline Chapter of OES to Install New Officers Tuesday Night

Evangeline Chapter No. 9, Order of Eastern Star, will meet at the Masonic temple Tuesday evening for installation of officers. Mrs. Alice Stanley will be chairman of the evening.

A short business meeting will precede the installation.

Edith and Joseph Forstner will be installed Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron respectively.

Members are still discussing the meeting held last week when the chapter honored Worthy Patron Charles Elliott and Worthy Matron Genevieve Elliott, outgoing officers. In a beautifully arranged event, the Worthy Matron wore a dark green taffeta dress in which she was installed, and carried chrysanthemums, presented by Mrs. Nancy Land.

Green was the color selected by the Worthy Matron for her year in office and therefore the color was carried out in the decorations for the evening. Officers walked into the lodge rooms carrying huge musical notes with green stars followed by the son of the Elliotts, little Bobby, who presented the jewel which was a lovely pin, to the Worthy Matron. Barbara, their daughter, presented the beautiful ring to the Worthy Matron.

Mrs. Florence Harter and Mrs. Jane Sbaffi presented the gifts from officers by each carrying in rolled up sheets of music enclosing green bank notes. The music sheet presented to the Worthy Patron was "Charlie, My Boy," and the one to the Worthy Matron was "Sweet Genevieve."

A Thanksgiving motif was carried out in the banquet rooms with miniature turkeys and fall flowers and leaves. It was then that the Worthy Matron presented gifts to her officers. Being the Worthy Matron's birthday night a delicious cake was baked by Mrs. Harter and beautifully decorated by Earl Rickard.

Gifts were presented to members with birthdays in September, October and November, and tiny cup cakes with lighted candles were set before each member at the birthday table.

Guests from Smartsville, Grass Valley, Truckee, and Colfax attended, honored guests being the Past Worthy Grand Matron Georgia Helback of Colfax and Worthy Matron Marjorie Keckler of Aurora Chapter, Grass Valley.

Mrs. Myrtle Weiss was chairman and the Star Points were on the committee to help make this night a huge success.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

It Sparkles Plenty

"Oh, look at the bubbles!" That will probably be your family's first reaction when they spy this novel and attractive fruit gelatin dessert. Using ginger ale as an ingredient, you can mold bubbles right into the gelatin, creating a special "sparkley" effect that the family will love.

"What a grand flavor!" That will be the next exclamation of pleasure, when your family tastes fresh pears, top of the season, molded in this wonderful taste combination of ginger ale and luscious raspberry-flavored gelatin.

"This is an idea for my recipe file!" And that's what you'll say to yourself when you see how easy it is to prepare a gayly original dessert that adds real freshness and charm to your late-summer menus.

GINGER PEAR MOLD

1 package raspberry-flavored gelatin
½ cup hot water
1½ teaspoons lemon juice
1½ cups ginger ale
1 cup diced fresh pears

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add lemon juice and ginger ale gradually. Chill until slightly thickened. Then fold in pears. Turn into 1-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with pear halves, green grapes and green leaves. Makes 6 servings.

Plastic Bowls Simplify Food Storage

BY BETTY LYNN CURTICE, NEA Staff Writer

ONE of the most annoying features of after-meal cleanups, to many homemakers, is the problem of what to do with leftovers.

The right-sized dish has to be decided upon; a cover has to be found that will fit the dish before the exasperating search for refrigerator storage space gets underway. And, often as not, after all that trouble the bowl is overturned before its contents are used.

With these aggravations in mind, a plastic company has designed a set of refrigerator containers which make the storage of leftovers less of a chore. The five-piece assortment contains one large quart size, two pint sizes and two ten-ounce sizes, all rectangular in shape

The bowls are flexible, to ease removal of food; lids are rigid, to allow for stacking one upon the other. The lids are also transparent to provide visibility.

Sized to fit the small shelf of the average refrigerator, the dishes are nested within a tray containing three compartments.

The tray is also useful, its makers say, for serving relishes at meals, or tidbits at a party. The bowls are designed to double as small vegetable crispers or as molds for aspics or gelatin salads.

Also available are plastic food bags for perishables not ordinarily stored in dishes. Patterned after the brown paper sacks used by grocers, these bags are gusseted to allow for expansion.

They are sized to accommodate anything from half of a cut lemon to a Thanksgiving turkey. Soap and water washings keep the bags clean and fresh for re-use.

TRUCKEE RIVER PLAN SUBMITTED BY ARMY

A five-point flood control program of the Truckee river was outlined by J. W. Borland of the U. S. army engineers office in Sacramento at a meeting held in Reno, Nev., Tuesday.

Borland said his department is making a report and recommendations to the federal government on steps to avoid flood hazards and to conserve water.

1. Improvements at the Lake Tahoe inlet, with channel work below the dam site at the lake's outlet.
2. Reduce the water level of Lake Tahoe by 135,000 acre feet.
3. Construction of a reservoir on Prosser creek with a capacity of 135,000 acre feet to replace the proposed reduced water level at Lake Tahoe.
4. Installation of a permanent pumping plant at the lake outlet upon consent of Lake Tahoe and Nevada interests. The plant to be used under certain restricted conditions during periods when a deficiency of water exists in the Truckee river.
5. Full use of the Placer reservoir to divert Lake Tahoe water and the establishment of a Sierra Pacific Power company plant below Placer reservoir for generation of electricity.

Got any money-making ideas?

Been thinking of a new gadget or way to make work easier and life more enjoyable?

Well, go ahead and work it out. Maybe you'll strike it rich with such an idea—if it's really good. And more power to you.

But at the same time—just in case—shouldn't you perhaps consider the ways you can save money by using printing. For instance, envelopes can be printed with your corner card cheaper than you can buy a rubber stamp and stamp them yourself, if you consider your time as valuable to more important duties. And the quality cannot compare. And the advertising value of a good envelope cannot be priced. It is often your first contact with a potential customer.

JURY FINDS MCEWEN GUILTY OF ASSAULT

A jury of six men and six women required only 35 minutes late yesterday to find Melvin McEwen, Truckee lumber worker, guilty of felonious assault in a case in which he was accused of choking his estranged wife in the early morning hours of July 29 in their Truckee home.

With Dean Morrison as the one returning lettermen for varsity basketball, Coach Tom Nelson is facing practically the same problem he had in football—lack of material. Practice opened Monday afternoon at Nevada City high school with only eight aspirants for the cage game. Yesterday Nelson had 13 candidates practicing and the outlook began to improve.

The Yellowjackets open their cage season here Tuesday night with practice games with Wheatland.

Warren Immel, who coached a fairly sucessful C team during the past two months, will mentor the B basketball team.

The B game Tuesday is slated for 6:30 p.m. with the varsity following.

The Yellowjackets have practice tilts scheduled with Truckee and Lincoln high schools before conference play opens in San Juan Friday, Jan. 5.

Candidates for varsity basketball are Gordon Lageson, Jerry Coleman, Charles DeGraffenreid, Jim Scribner, Wayne Thiessen, Bob Thompson, Gene Kline, Jim Underwood, Dick Gentile, Gordon Crane, Bob Pohley, Morrison and Joe Griggs. Griggs is handicapped by a football injury.

SPORTSMEN TO BALLOT ON DEER CONTROLLING

A ballot by mail of members of the Nevada County Sportsmen Club will determine the membership attitude toward a proposed controlled reduction of the deer population of the county, according to an announcement by Carl Larsen, club president.

The ballot by mail was decided at a regular meeting of the organization Monday evening at the city hall here.

Russ Henry, an employe of the state fish and game commission, reported on deer damage to crop land in the county and described the damage as heavy to orchards, vineyards and irrigated pastures.

Henry suggested the deer population of the county be reduced by 40 percent by controlled doe killing. Henry recommended extended program of brush burning and range improvement to draw deer to natural feeding grounds.

Five sites for a clubhouse for the organization were discussed but no formal action was taken.

BATTLE OF LINIMENT SLATED FOR SUNDAY

Drug stores of the twin cities had ought to open for a couple hours Sunday afternoon to take care of land-office sales of liniment and arnica following the completion of a gridiron game between the "have beens" of Nevada City and Grass Valley high schools.

The game, otherwise known as the annual football game between the alumni of the schools is slated for 2 o'clock on the Hennessy field gridiron.

Marvin Haddy and Eddie Furano, Yellowjacket stars of a decade ago (more or less) will coach the Nevada City stalwarts. Homer "Buzz" Ostrom will mastermind the Grass Valley hopefuls.

An innovation this year is the use of grads of any school instead of the two county schools.

Ticket sales, publicity and half time entertainment will be handled by the Parent-Teachers associations of the two high schools of western Nevada county.

SIERRA STREAM NAMES OFFICIALLY CHANGED

It is now official.

The Sierra county board of supervisors officially announced the names of several streams of Sierra county last week. The red tape for the changes was set in motion about a year ago upon the suggestion of Franklin H. Turner, former county clerk, and at the request of the U. S. geological survey.

Downie river is the former North Fork of the North Fork of the Yuba river, and junctions with the North Yuba river at Durgan bridge.

Fauley creek is the former East Fork of the North Fork of the North Fork.

Lavezzola creek is the former Middle Fork of the North Fork of the North Fork. The stream entering Lavezzola creek from the north is now Empire creek. The North and South Forks of the Middle Fork of the North Fork of the North Fork will now simply be the North and South Forks of Lavezzola creek.

The South Fork of the North Fork is simply named the North Yuba river.

Haypress Creek is the former South Fork of the South of the North Fork.

Don't ask us to repeat.
